CAPITAL OVER $50,000 DOLLARS, AND CONSTANTLY INCREASING. The Charter of this Company offers more favora-Company chartered in the State, by insuring with or without a premium note. If the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in each, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves one-eighth of the amount he would otherwise have to pay; or by becoming a member, and giving a small premium note, the insured saves nearly one half of the amount charged by Stock Companies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the combination of the CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE.

This Company commenced issuing Policies gainst loss or damage by fire, on the 13th day of March, 1854, since which time over seven thousand seven hundred persons have insured and become members of the Company, and over seventy thousand dollars have been paid for losses. Having increased our business during the past year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering prospeets of future usefulness. The Directors hope and believe, that, by prudence, caution, and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation for cheapness and safety not surpassed by any Company in the U. States. All differences in settlement of losses, may be determined by three disinterested arbitrators of the County where such loss happened, to be mutually chosen by the insured and the Company. THE PINE TREES .- The pine is trained to need nothing, and to endure everything .-

It is resolvedly whole, self contained, desiring nothing but rightness, content with restricted completion. Tall or short, it will be straight. Small or large, it will be round .-It may be permitted also to these soft lowland-trees that they should make themselves with the sword have harder work to do for man, and must do it in close set troops. To stay the sliding of the mountain snows, which would bury him; to hold in divided drops, at our sword points, the rain, which would sweep away him and his treasurefields; to nurse in shade among our brown fallen leaves the tricklings that feed the brooks in drought; to give massive shield against the winter wind, which shrieks through the bare branches of the plain:such service must we do him steadfastly while we live. Our bodies, also, are at his service; softer than the bodies of other trees, though our toil is harder than theirs. Let him take them as pleases him, for his houses and ships. So also it may be well for these timid lowland trees to tremble with all their leaves; or to turn their paleness to the sky, if but a rush of rain passes by them, or to let fall their leaves as last, sick and sore. But we pines must live carelessly amidst the wrath of clouds. We only wave our branches to and fro when the storm pleads with us, as men toss their arms in a dream. And finally, these weak lowland trees may struggle fondly for the last remnants of life, and send up feeble saplings again from their roots when they are cut down. But we builders with the sword perish boldly, our dying shall be perfect and lives without reluctance, and forever .- Rus-FIRST BABIES .- There is an extensive fund of strong, wholesome common-sense (a most uncommon possession by the way,) in the following plain paragraph from the Springfield Republican, and parents may save themselves and their offspring much unnecessary suffering, by taking to heart its ex-solemn, as our warring; we give up our cellent suggestions : A somewhat extended observation, and a solitary experience, have convinced us that first babies have a hard time. Parents must what a baby is, know how to treat it, and acquire patience to treat it properly. The poor little fellows that have the misfortune to come along first, have to educate parents to their task, and in the process they get spanked, and shaken, and abused. After a man has three or four children, he learns that whipping or striking a child less than two years of age is barbarism. We know one "paternal head" who struck his first child when only six weeks old, the ass actually believing that the child knew better than to cry, and that he stopped crying at that particular time because he struck him.

We carry certain notions of children and of family government into married life, and I right for this city, offers these PICTURES the first child is always the victim of tnese notions. And not alone of these, for the parents have not learned self-control, and a baby is whipped quite as often because the parent is impatient or angry, as because it is vicious or intractable. We inflict on our first children the floggings we ought to have for our own impatience or fretfulness. This pounding children before they become, in God's eye, morally responsible beings, is very strange business. Patience, good people-unwearing patience! Don't wait to learn it until one of your little ones shall be hidden under the daisies!
